“moods”

Bainbridge-Guilford

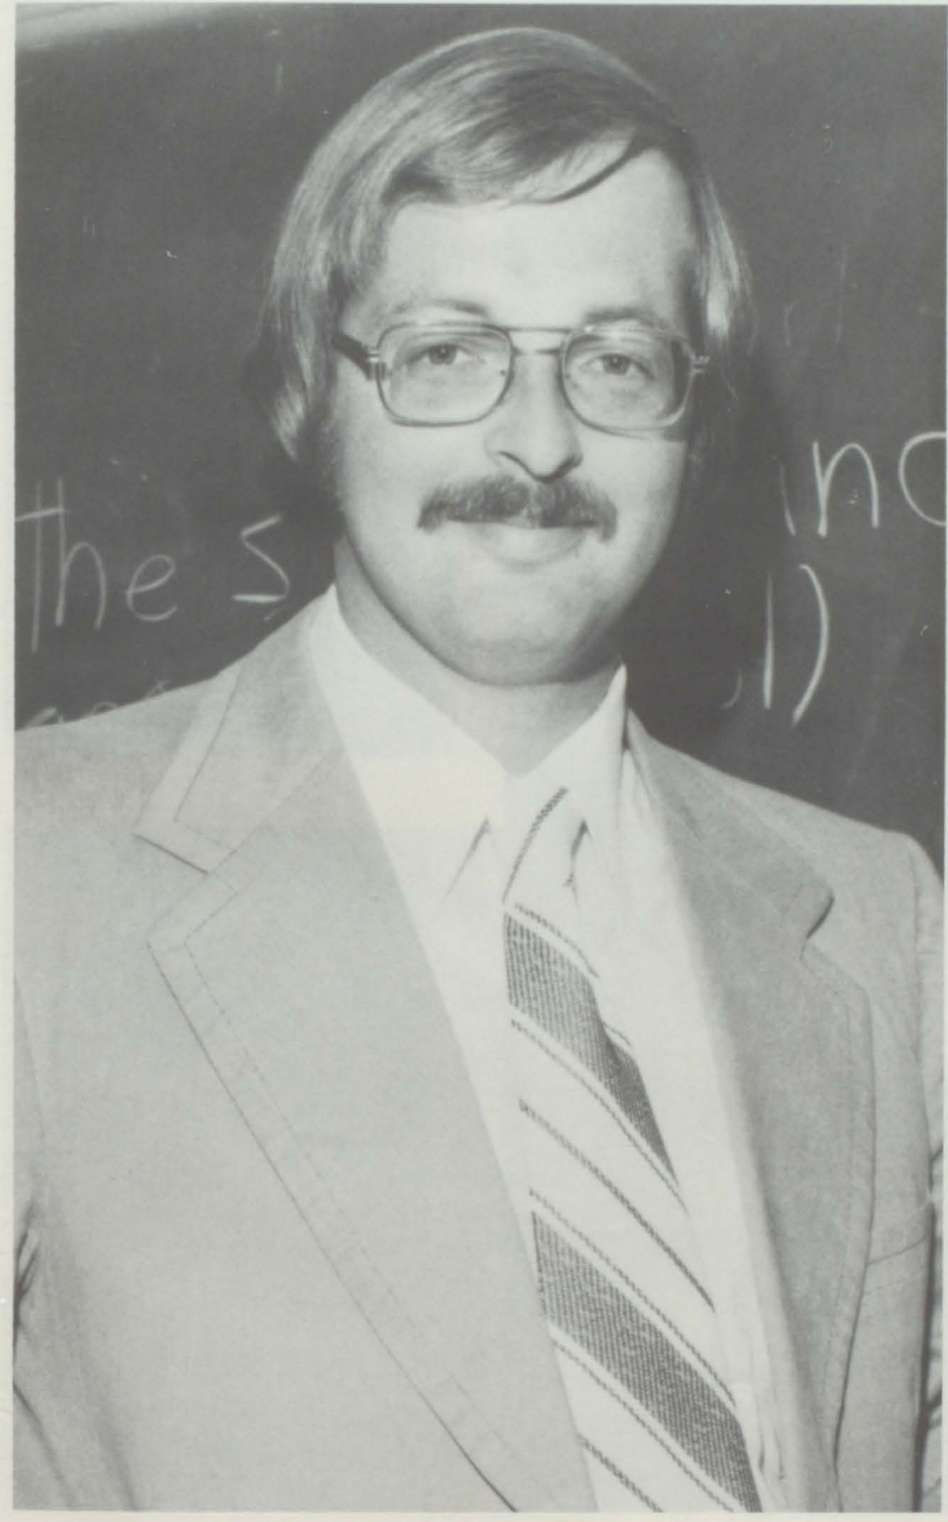

Central School

Echo 1977

Dedication

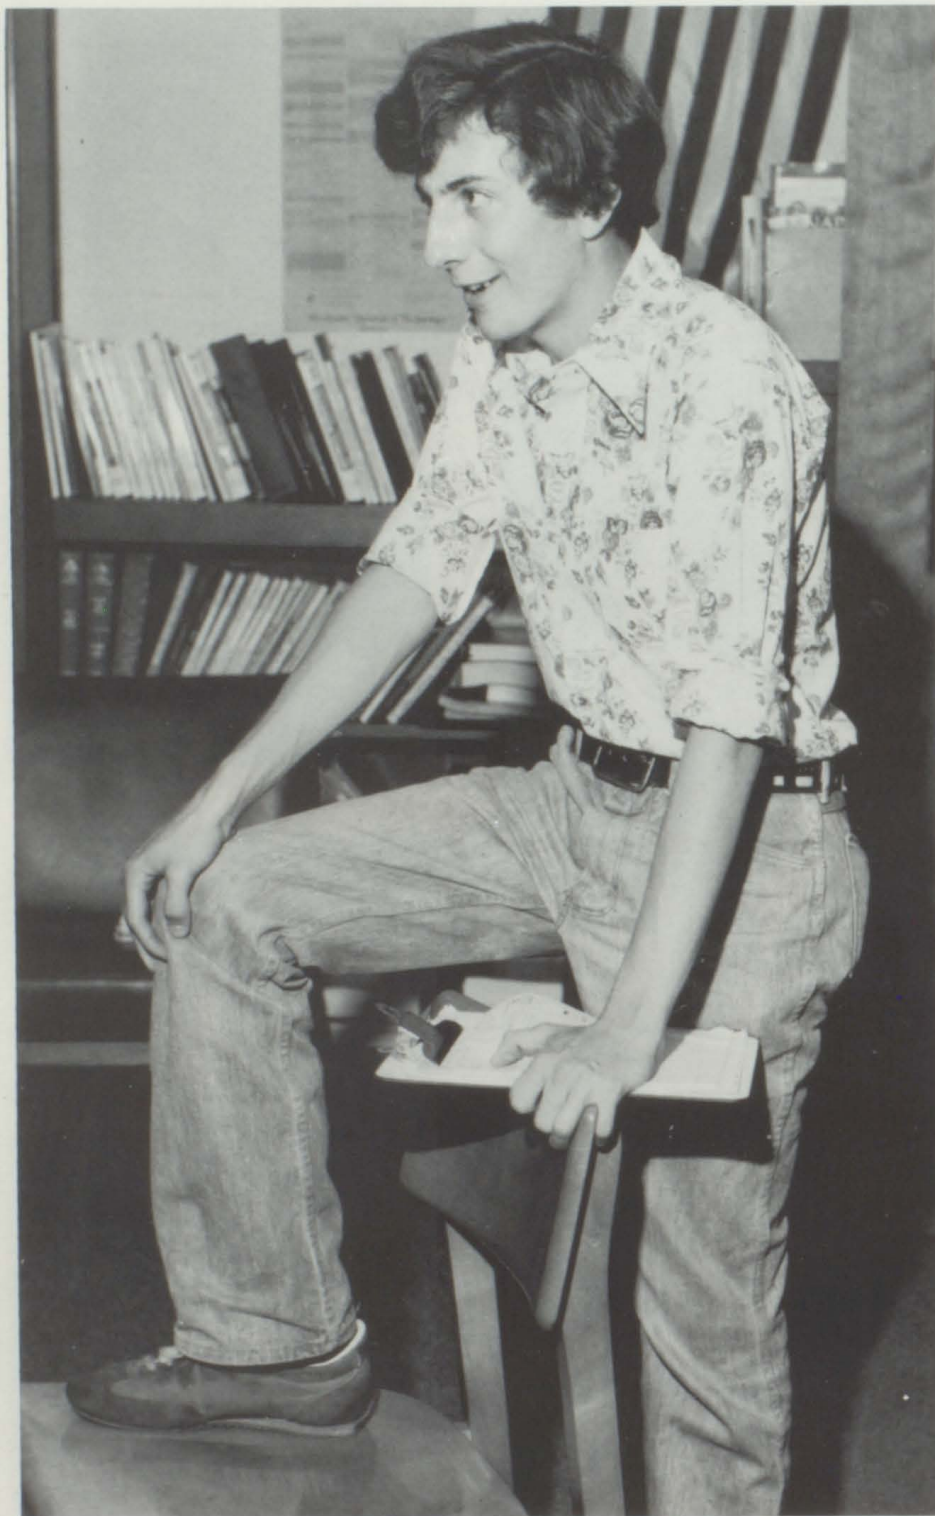

The Class of 1977 is dedicating this book to a man that we admire and respect. Through our association with him, our senior year has become more memorable and meaningful. We have truly enjoyed knowing him, and so to Mr. Tully we dedicate a year of memories.

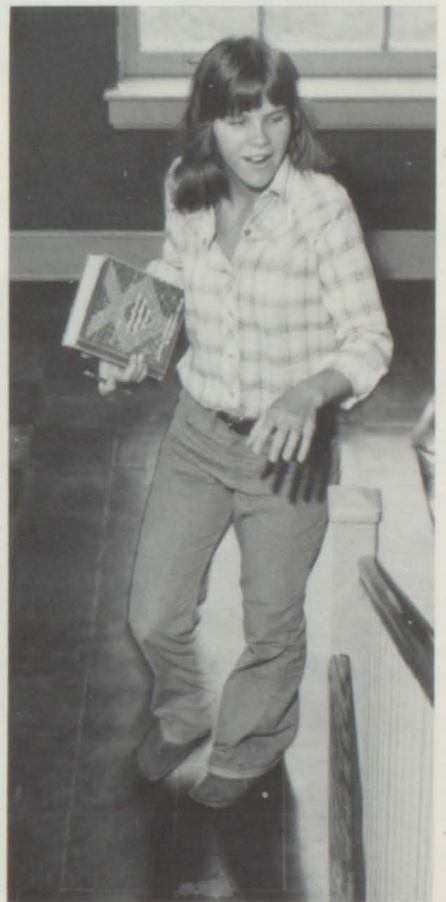

MOODS

mood, n. 1. state of mind or feeling, humor or temper. 2. moods, fits of morose, sullen, or uncertain temper. 3. anger. (obs.)

Moods are a part of our everyday life. Moods are a particular state of mind or a type of feeling that we as individuals experience everyday of our life. Our moods occur in various degrees of intensity, such as happiness, grief, love, and hate. William Wordsworth realized this as he expressed his thoughts on this subject in the following quote -

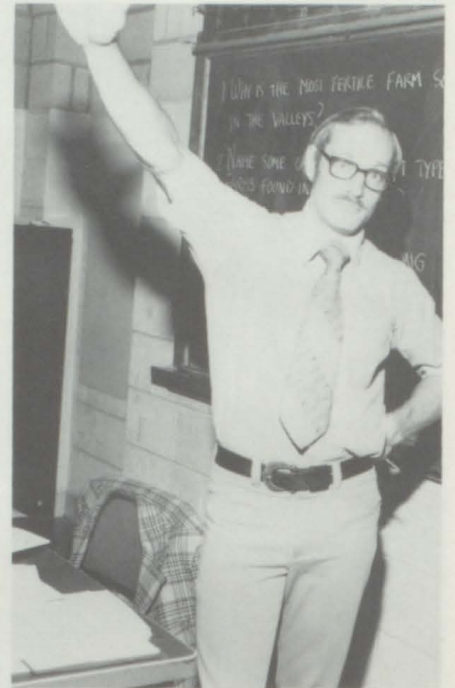

"As high as we have mounted in delight,
In our dejection do we sink as low."

MOODS

ANGER HAPPINESS REMORSE LOVE HATE

EXCITEMENT GRIEF PENSIVENESS MELANCHOLY

I were but little happy, if I could say how much. - Shakespeare

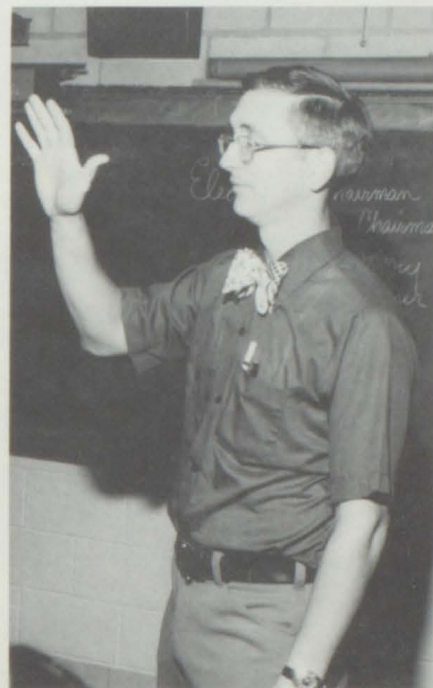

There is no grief which time does not lessen and soften. - Cicero

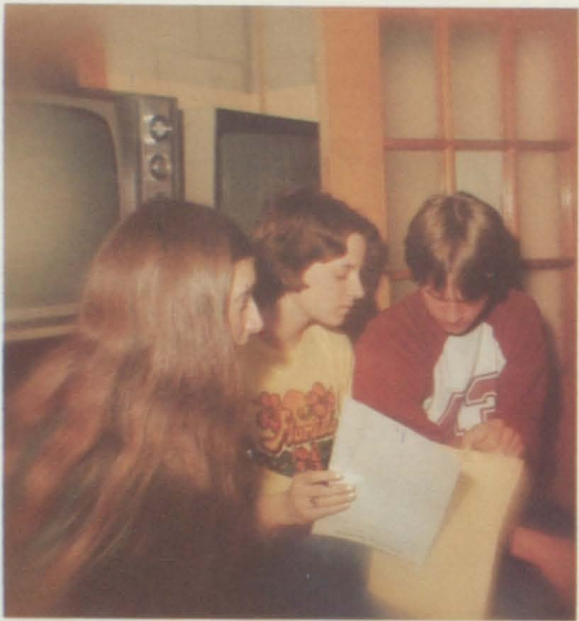

The blight of life - the demon thought. - Byron

Great men have reflected on the many moods of life. So, with this kept in mind, the 1977 Echo is a photographic essay depicting the many moods of the 1977 Bainbridge-Guilford Central School.

Seasons . . . Winter, Spring, Summer, and Fall . . .

'Till death do us part.

The Class of 1977 has fond memories of two formal events. The first event was the Junior Prom held on May 8, 1976 and the second was the newly initiated Senior Ball held on February 26, 1977 at the Mason Inn. The latter event wouldn't have been possible if it weren't for the ingenuity of several senior class members.

What's that aftershave you're wearing?

Seasons

For our world the circle turns again
 Throughout the year were seen the seasons change.
 It's meant a lot to me to start anew
 Oh, the winter's cold but I'm so warm with you.
 Out there, there's not a sound to be heard
 And the seasons seem to sleep upon their words.
 As the waters freeze up with the summer's end,
 It's funny how young lovers start as friends.
 Yes, it's funny how young lovers start as friends.

Elton John and Bernie Taupin

Smiles

Seniors

Hey, wait a minute!

I know, I know . . .

I don't believe it!

I always smile for you.

A one, a two, ready, go!

PANU, PANU, PANU!

I know you're back there.

and More Seniors

Hey Rick, don't look now, but here he comes!

The editors of the 1977 Echo, would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to the many people who contributed their time and effort into making this yearbook a success. The enthusiasm of the student body was overwhelming, as it was evident by the size of the Echo staffs. a special note of recognition goes to Mr. Daniel Rice, our advisor, who contributed his ingenuity, guidance, and the beautiful cover photograph. We would also like to thank Mrs. Dorothy Adams and Mrs. Helen Murphy for the "endless bits of information" they supplied for us. We have put our best efforts into this book and we hope you enjoy this book.
