

FOCUS: PEOPLE

1980 ECHO

Focus: People is a totally unique interpretation of the past school year. This is not a book of fantasy but rather, one attempting to reveal the aspects we sometimes overlook of people seen everyday. To us, the ordinary is the extraordinary and Focus: People is a portrait of those different creative and brilliant people seen everyday here at B-G.

FOCUS: PEOPLE

BAINBRIDGE-GUILFORD CENTRAL SCHOOL

1980 ECHO

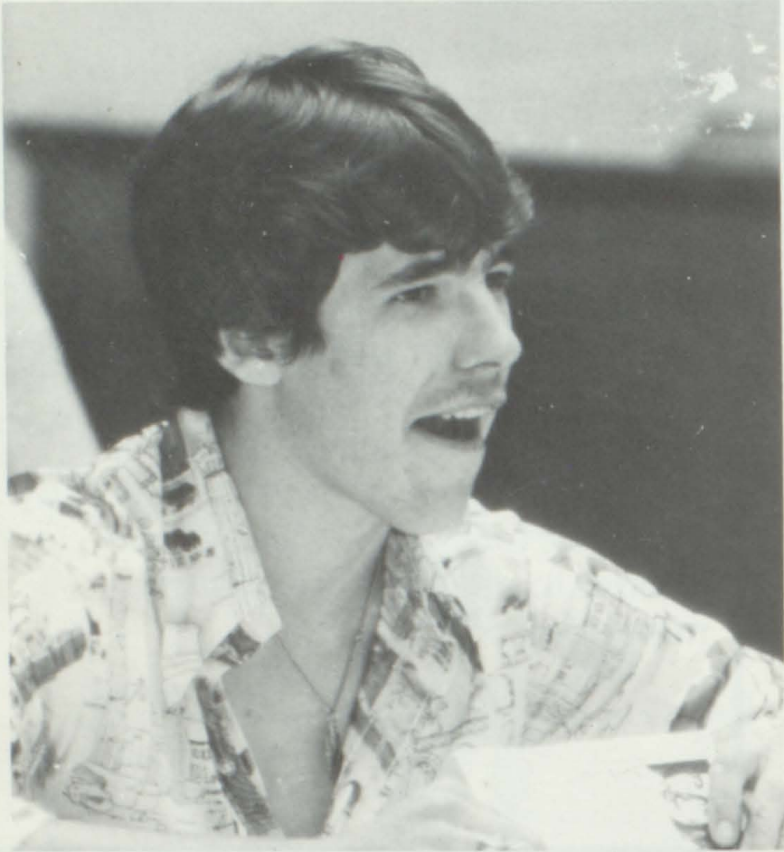

We, the class of 1980, would like to dedicate this yearbook to an extraordinary man who has become a friend to us all; a man always ready to listen, reflecting his understanding and concern and whose sense of humor has added color to our lives. Perhaps because of these outstanding qualities, to you, Mr. Walters, we choose to dedicate this year of memories.

CANDID CAMERA

UPSET, HOPEFUL, COMICAL, JOYOUS, STUDIOUS . . .

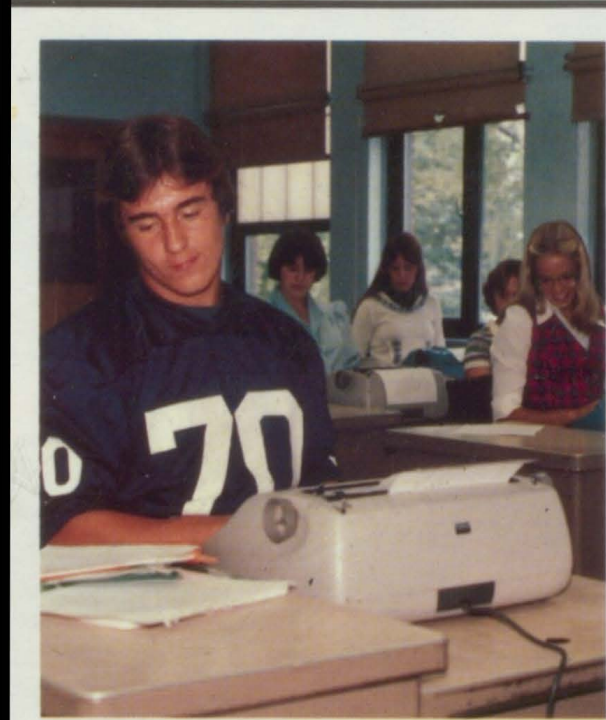

DREAMY, DEADBEAT, RELAXED, CALM . . .

It takes all sorts of people to make a world.
Douglas Jorroid

"Freedom Jam !!!"

"Watch out, Brother Bru."

We were all moving to the beat of the band. They called themselves "Freedom Jam." We heard they were good, so we gave 'em a try . . . a live rock concert at B-G High!

"You ain't nothing but a hound dog."

"Oh, Deanee Walters, you stallion you."

Believe one who knows: you will find something greater in woods than in books. Trees and stones will teach you that which you can never learn from masters. St. Bernard of Clairvaux

Below me, there, is the village, and look how quiet and small . . . Tennyson

What is that green thing on my desk?

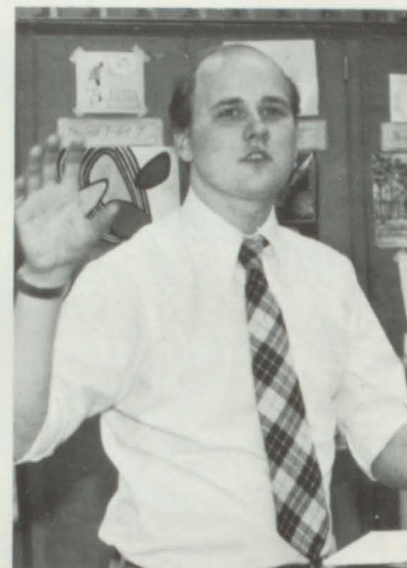

Hello Fans.

Don't tie Peg's shoe to Tim's.

How dare you accuse me of that.

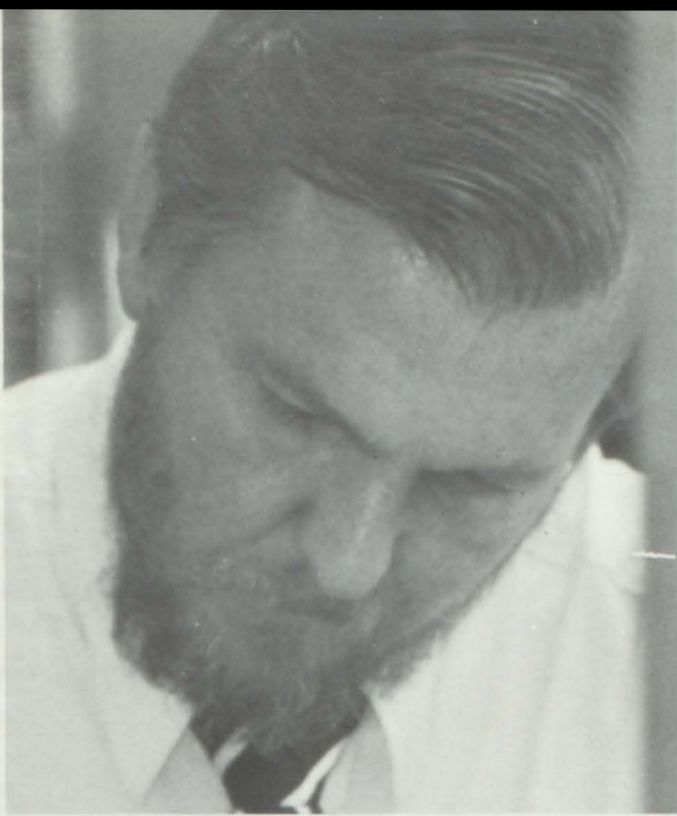

Please no more publicity shots.

Who's that behind those Foster Grants?

Alone at last.

Grizzly Richards.

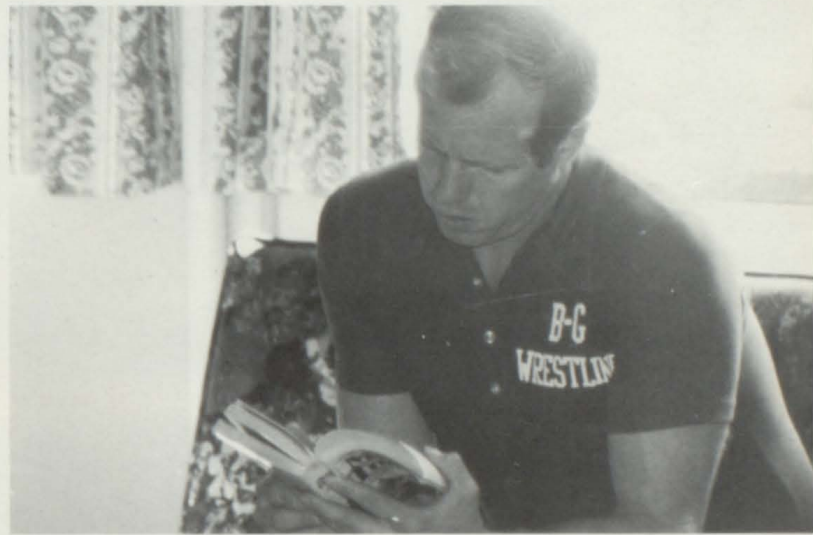

Another joke on Milton.

What happened to Mr. Vredenburg?

Get that cello off my foot.

And the plot thickens.

Didn't I say no cheating?

Oh it's Santa.

IN MEMORY OF

Mrs. Louise Laird

Friendship

Oh, the comfort — the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person,
Having neither to weigh thoughts,
Nor measure words — but pouring them
All right out — just as they are —
Chaff and grain together —
Certain that a faithful hand will Take and sift them —
Keep what is worth keeping —
And with the breath of kindness
Blow the rest away.

Do you enjoy teaching at B-G?

Ed Billy (Physical Education)
"It is very flattering that the Social Studies and Science departments constantly call on me to solve their many and varied problems."

Judy Volkert (Home Economics)
"Yes, I went to school and graduated here. It's nice to come back. I like the kids."

M. Elise Craver (Art)
"I love teaching new and innovative things to students who knew nothing about those things before. Most of my students are serious about learning new art techniques, therefore, I enjoy teaching very much."

Gary Scott (Science)
"Yes, I get a little nervous, scared, and upset at contract negotiations time, but other than that I enjoy teaching here."

Thelma Palmer (Math)
"Yes. Most of the students are friendly and easy to get along with. However, I am a little disappointed when I see a greater number of students being disrespectful and destructive."

Dan Rice (English)
"Most of the time I enjoy teaching and the kids."

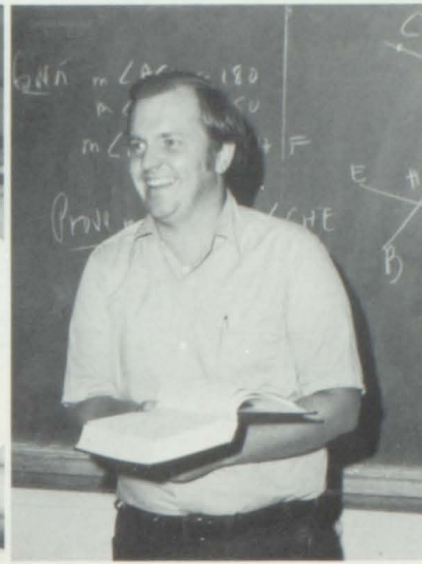

Why did you choose to teach?

Daniel Tennant (Art)
 "Because I want students to know that art is the greatest area of study, it demands skill, brains, and patience."

Lauren Vredenburg (Science)
 "I admired my high school coach, and I wanted to do for him what he had done for me."

David Richards (Mathematics)
 "Because shipping in the merchant marines did not look to be desirable for the next 20 years."

Vernon Wallace (Physical Education)
 "Athletics were a big part of my life and coaching was the only way I could truly experience that."

James Walters (English)
 "There are three basic reasons: 1. It was the only job I could think of with the summer off. 2. I couldn't do anything else, so I decided to teach. 3. I like torture. Seriously, I enjoy the challenge and the rewards."

Duane Bartlett (Industrial Arts)
 "For the money."

What do you think of the use of drugs and alcohol among B-G students?

Muriel Lanciault (Communication Skills)
"I wish I could be more positive, but I'm afraid drug usage is much more widespread than we would like to believe."

Judith Niles (Music)
"I believe that we do have a drug-alcohol problem, but it is not apparent in any of my classes."

Kevin Finnigan (Language)
"About the national average. No worse here than any other place."

James Palmer (Guidance)
"I believe we have a problem, but it is no worse than in other schools and better than some."

Milton Brubaker (Social Studies)

Donald Armstrong (Science)
"I'm sure they're being used, but I really don't know to what extent the students are using them."

Do you feel there is a discipline or behavior problem in the classroom at B-G?

G. Christopher Clark (Foreign Language)
 "Yes; We need to create a two-way feeling of respect between students and teachers, as well as greater consideration by students for other students' rights and feelings."

Christine Cumming (Music)
 "There definitely appears to be a behavior problem exhibited by an increasingly large segment of the student population. It both saddens and frustrates me to see rude or disruptive behavior either accepted or overlooked by more and more people."

Roger Ashworth (Social Studies)
 "I enjoy teaching and the students are generally lots of fun to teach! No great problems!"

Florence Uhlig (Physical Education)
 "I don't have any discipline problems."

Jean McBride (Business Education)
 "Specifically in my classroom, I do not feel that there is a real discipline problem. The majority of the students are interested in learning a skill (typing and/or shorthand). Their interest usually eliminates behavior problems."

Stop, Bus!

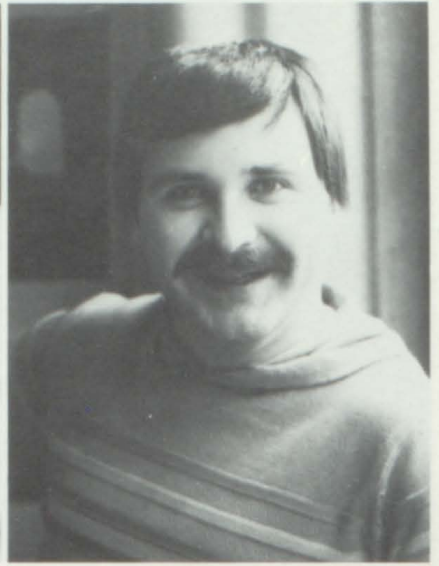

What do you think of the use of drugs and alcohol among B-G students?

Muriel Lanciault (Communication Skills)
"I wish I could be more positive, but I'm afraid drug usage is much more widespread than we would like to believe."

Judith Niles (Music)
"I believe that we do have a drug-alcohol problem, but it is not apparent in any of my classes."

Kevin Finnigan (Language)

Milton Brubaker (Social Studies)

Donald Armstrong (Science)
"I'm sure they're being used, but I really don't know to what extent the students are using them."

What Kind of Kids do you like to teach?

William Smith (Music)
"I enjoy teaching students who are:
enthusiastic, hard-working,
friendly, sincere, good natured, and dedicated."

Judith Collier (English)
"Cooperative People"

George Williams (Guidance)
"In my position as a guidance counselor, everyone is equal."

Leona Chungo (Librarian)
"An interested student is the answer to a teacher's prayer."

Richard Church (Social Studies)
"Jr. high mostly and some seniors."

Roger Armstrong (Science)
"Enthusiastic, well mannered and self-motivated ... but then, who doesn't?"

How has school life changed over the past ten years?

Donald Bosworth (Mathematics)
"In the last ten years there has been a gradual shift in emphasis from the social aspects of school to the educational aspects. An example of this is the introduction of first: the basic competence tests and then, the harder Regents Competency tests."

Richard Bunting (Music)
"More important than the developments of the last ten years, however, is what will happen in the next ten. If we are to improve our general emotional and intellectual health and protect our environment, we must reverse this trend."

Daniel Friedman (Social Studies)
"Though school students generally seem as nice as in the past; they do seem less inclined to work hard for academic success. Perhaps this is a reflection of their being in a society where the work ethic has been uplived by the pleasure principle."

Joel Laczak (Science)
"Ten years ago, when I was in high school everyone had a great sense of social awareness. Vietnam, civil rights, the draft, and student rights were major issues to students and teachers. Today those same energies young people have go towards partying and watching 'Mork and Mindy'."

Kim Morse (English)
"Students are involved in more outside activities. Academics are not taken as seriously. Although students are more mature in some ways and experience things earlier, they also seem to be more confused."

Gordon Hughes (Health)
"Students seem lazier, less honest, and care less about their school work. They are also much more disrespectful and seem to have no pride in themselves as ladies and gentlemen. I am speaking in generalities there are still great people at B-G; just not as many as there were a few years ago."

Janet Monroe (Science)
 "Yes. By the time they reach Junior High, students have experimented with sex and are not emotionally equipped to handle their feelings sensibly."

Arleta Oldfield (Home Economics)
 "Yes, definitely. Our students should have the opportunity of making informed choices and opinions on any subject benefiting to their development — including their sexuality."

Bernice Gaydorous (Nurse)
 "Yes. Students want the facts. They don't want them tomorrow; they want them now. They need them now."

Harold Colf (Mathematics)
 "Yes. Young people need accurate information at an early level, and I feel that New York state does well to recognize the need for instruction at the grade levels which are now mandated."

Caroline Lord (English)
 "Yes. One of the nicest improvements I've seen in recent years is the ability of students and teachers to discuss natural functions of all kinds on a matter-of-fact level."

Visual Aesthetic Engineering

The art department offers a new perspective on life. We want to erase the long standing heresy that to be an artist, one has to be "washed out." To be aesthetic is to be creative and colorful. Life has a wide spectrum of interests. Art gives contrast to the everyday. Art gives balance. Art is great!

CROSSCOUNTRY

cross-country — row 1 — C. Currie, D. Bame, M. Thornton, row 2 — Coach R. Caracciolo, B. Dewey, L. Valentine, M. Currie, T. Hinkley, M. Jones

At the outset of the 1979 Cross Country season, many area coaches felt that Bobcat runner Matt Currie would be one of the top runners in the Susquehanna East. But who could predict ten consecutive first place finishes including six tournaments and the distinction of being the only undefeated runner in the whole Susquehanna Association. Matt completed a very successful season in Cross Country even though he injured his knee.

It was the bottom of the 9th. Our quarterback spiked the ball in hope of a winning basket. Unfortunately, he tripped on the tee and his arrow missed the target. His next serve was returned with a backhand forcing our goalie to sprint a 220 in order to avoid a takedown. Luckily, the ball missed the gutter and we were awarded 6 points for a pin. Our center kicked the field goal, winning the game by 2. Thus another B-G victory.

STUDY HABITS . . .

STUDY HABITS

If you enter B-G late at night and books in their lockers sit Please do not get uptight and try not to throw a fit.

*Home is not the place where students like to study.
They'd rather cram for their exam in 5 minutes with their buddy.*

*They study for English during math and for social studies in the hall.
We all know if you study at home your grades will surely fall.*

*Studying seems to require a lot of tension and noise.
Boys don't even like to study and girls prefer studying boys.*

*You may not like our study habits but that's the way it is.
Students will never hit the books
'till the last minute before the quiz.*

LOCKERS: A HOME AWAY FROM HOME

There's a place I go to get away
It's different from all the rest.
Of all the places that I would go
I like my locker best.

I hang my mirror on the door,
my picture on the wall.
My locker is my home to me
I like it best of all.

Dirty gym clothes on the floor,
sneakers hung on hooks,
Love letters thrown here and there,
and jokes from dirty books.

When I open up the door
I'm as proud as I could be.
I'll guard my locker with my life because it belongs to me.

JUNK FOODS

It's rare to hear a stomach growl
In the halls of B-G High
On the shelves of student's lockers,
"Munchies" you will spy.

Chips, cakes, and candies
Or anything that's sweet
When you need a pick-me-up
"Munchies can't be beat!"

It's easy to eat in the classroom
Behind the teacher's back
It really isn't "eating",
Junk foods are only a snack.

So if you get that urge
To take a little bite,
Go ahead and splurge —
To your own heart's delight!

Rest your mind

Let your dreams

BOCES: AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE FUTURE

SCHOOL OF THE FUTURE: 2000

A MORE REALISTIC VIEW OF SCHOOL IN THE YEAR 2000

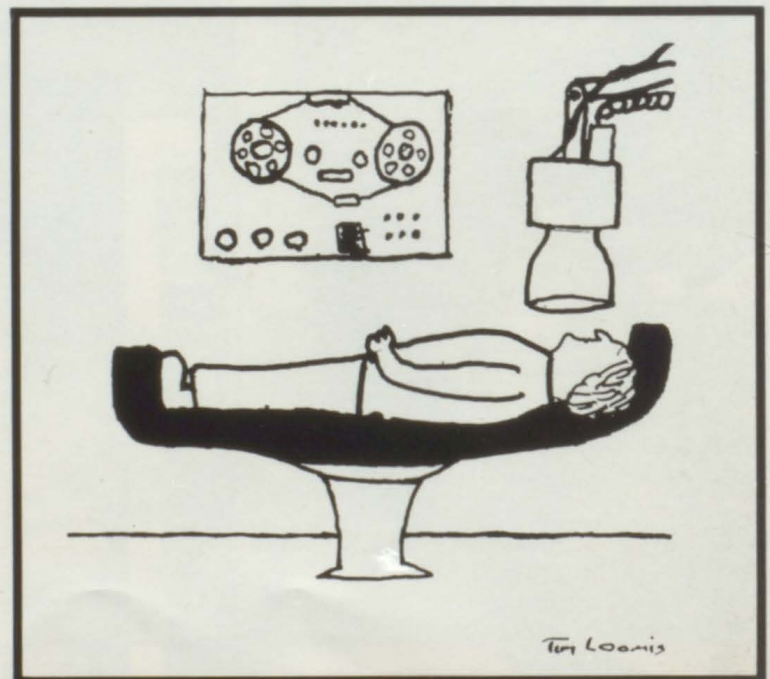

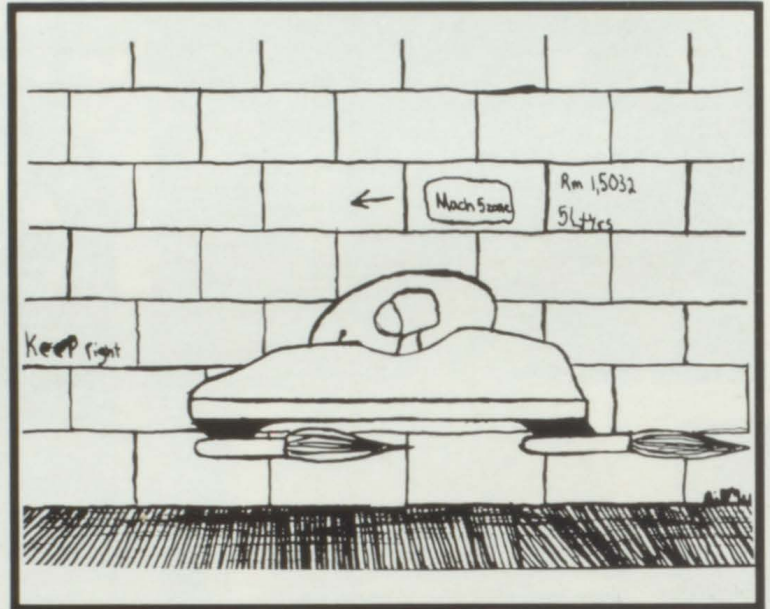

"What will school be like in the year 2000?" That question appears more and more frequently. Visions of high class towers, flying saucers, and rubber suits pop into many minds, but they may better illustrate the year 3000. In fact, I doubt that school in two decades will be much different from school today.

There will probably be an increase in computer data courses, and science courses may be expanded. Because of the lack of interest in language courses now, I feel that they will be almost non-existent. The importance of grammar will shrink, as will the basics of math with the increasing use of calculators. I also feel that students will be given more choice in what they take. Study halls may prevail.

Due to constantly growing consolidation, schools will be larger. Class sizes will expand, making the teacher's job harder. Because of the bigger classes, there will be less individualized attention. This will lead to longer homework assignments for future generations to complain about. The older complainers may very well be our own children.

Other than these relatively minor changes, school in the year 2000 should be basically the same as it is now, without flying saucers or robot teachers.

— Kim Hart

SCHOOL IN THE YEAR 2000

These words: "Hi, I'm Antithesis, An for short.", were the beginning of an adventure. An is the first person I met on my trip for a day in the year 2000. An is, or will be in 2000 AD, sixteen and she was willing to discuss her school life with me.

For Antithesis Burlesque a school day was trivial. Like kids of today, An wanted to be finished with school and on her own. She didn't know exactly what she was going to become, but An was interested in the political field.

Transportation to school was breath-taking and stomach-turning for me. The flying bus saucers took us to school. On the bus I met three of An's friends, Zugma and Smegma Baroque, the next door twins with six fingers, and Hamatron Epode, An's boyfriend. The four of them discussed which disco session they'd attend between 2nd and 3rd mods. Ham also brought up the topic of changing the buses sitting from the 2 rows to a circular shape.

The teachers weren't people! I was surprised yet pleased to know that comps (computers) aid young adults in learning. (The younger children had human teachers.) The notes on the electronic blackboard next to this unmovable teacher named Nosidera, were easy to read compared to the teacher's handwriting of today. Nosidera, and the other comps, only spoke when asked a question or to discuss a topic with a few members of the class. All comps were programmed to discuss a certain subject.

An attended four mods (classes) the day I visited. They were Psychology 2, Television 3 — Commercial Preparation, Data Processing 1 — how to program your computer, and History 5 — 1980. An told me that she'd met with a group of kids at the end of last year (June 1999) and decided on the subjects she was going to study during her next year of school. The topics they decided on were researched by comps, but they were put into new comps by humans.

The thinking caps caught my attention when Nosidera said all people were to put their thinking caps in their desks because they were going to have a test. Then all of An's classmates and An took off their hats!

The last event that I remember was when Isocra Dactyl, another one of An's friends, had problems deciding on lunch. She couldn't decide between pizza and trope or trachaic and terza rima. An, Isocra, and I finally had pizza and terza rima (pine juice). Lunch was surprisingly good.

I came home with an interesting experience from the future and I already know what school will be like in the year 2000.

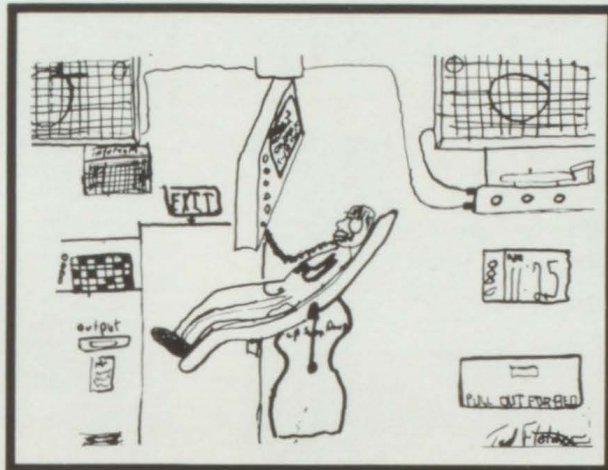

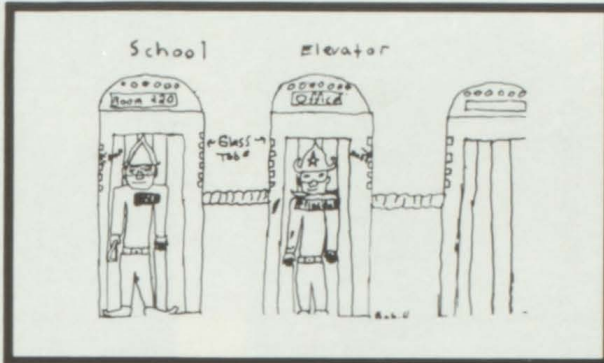

— Gail Ives

George Tecza

By the year 2000, I think the world will have run out of the fuel and much of the energy that we are trying to conserve; therefore there will be many small schools every few miles. Teachers will emphasize etiquette and proper language. They will be very eager to help students and happy for the students to learn. In the schools the teachers will be properly qualified to teach the handicapped. They will be included in the normal classroom procedures.

— Marcia Uhlig

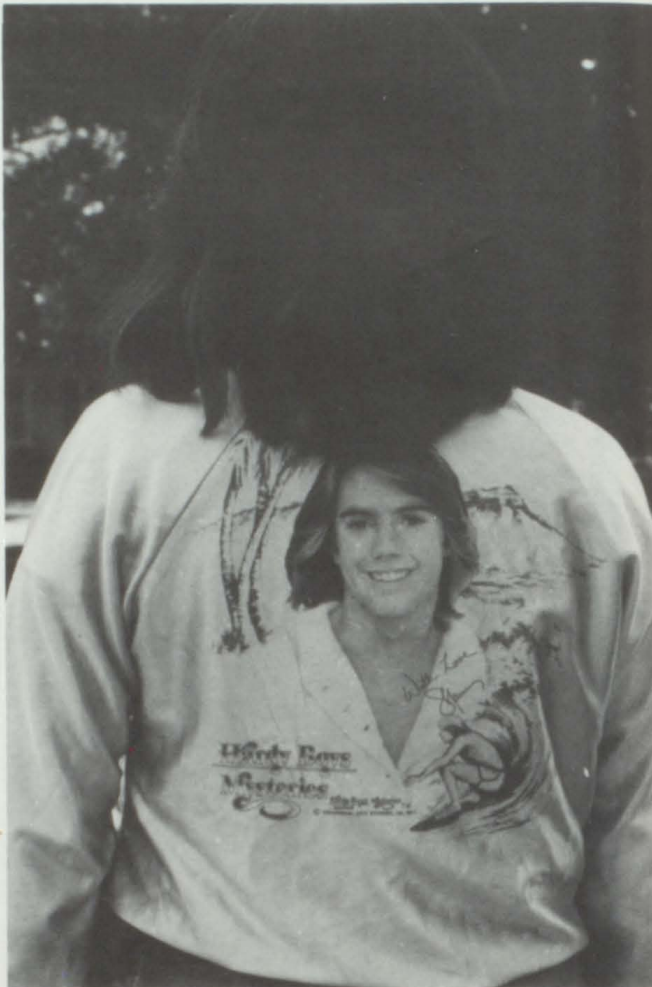

I believe these changes will occur:

1. We will insert a pass or fail system in all grades
2. The level of education will drop considerably
3. Students will determine how many years of school they want
4. Art class will be mandatory and take the place of English
5. Mr. Colf will be the only teacher from 1980 still teaching.
6. Each student will have a lazy boy chair instead of a desk
7. The faculty room will become the student lounge with its own casino and bar
8. Because the General Clinton Canoe regatta has become a year round event, many people moved to Bainbridge making it necessary to add two more stories to the B-G school.

This year under the Rotary Exchange Student program we are fortunate in having two students from S. America under the exchange student program, which operates all over the world. A student travels to another country to live for a year with a host family as a resident of the country. During the year, the student attends school and travels.

Susana Zust comes to B-G this year from Puria, Peru. She loves to travel and will be studying in Germany next year. As a senior at B-G, Susana enjoys many activities and loves to associate with her friends. We hope Susana has learned about the American way of life.

This year B-G is fortunate in having a foreign exchange student from Cochabamba, Bolivia. Roger Ruiz is a student at B-G, participates in golf and soccer and also enjoys horseback and motorcycle riding. Roger remarks that the community people have been very friendly towards him, and have made him feel at home. We hope that Roger enjoys his stay in Bainbridge this year.

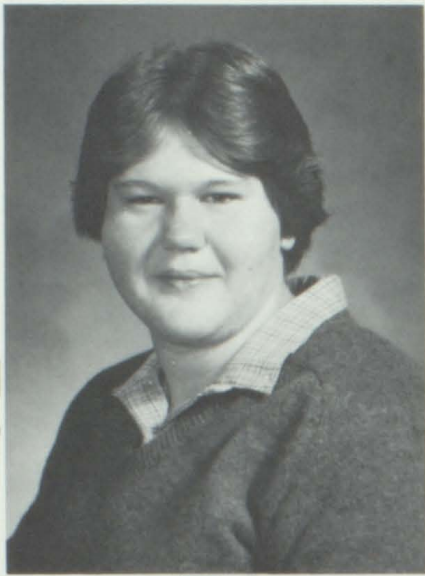

Roger at home with his family in Bolivia.

CREDITS

The 1980 Yearbook Editors would like to extend their thanks to the following people who helped make this year's echo a success:

- 1) Mrs. Predmore, Mrs. Feyerabend, Mrs. Murphy, and Mrs. Ohl for their endless patience and help.
- 2) The Tri-Town News for their cooperation with us in the use of photographs taken by their staff.
- 3) Our own photographers: Lee Bossler, Mr. Clark, Mrs. Craver, Bonnie DuMond, Dan Elwood, Tom Hinkley, Brett Sherman, Barbara Sypher, Mr. Tennant, and Kurt Youngs.
- 4) Varden Studios, for the excellent photos taken by their photographers.
- 5) Bob MacFadden, our representative from Taylor Publishers.
- 6) Bonnie DuMond for the lettering she did on the faculty pages and on page 74.
- 7) Our cover artist, Barbara Sypher.
- 8) Linda MacDonald, for her poetry on pages 60, 64, 65, 73, 75, 11, and 59.
- 9) Mrs. Craver, for her drawing on page 44.
- 10) Mike Jones, our cartoonist.
- 11) Mr. Tennant for his underclassman cartoons and paragraph on page 46.
- 12) Mike Price, Bill Wright, Tim Loomis, Terry Taft, George Tecza, Bob Harrington, Tad Fletcher, and John King for their artwork on pages 70 and 71.
- 13) And a very special thanks to those few dedicated staff members for their help. We would also like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Craver, who provided us with guidance, shared our enthusiasm, and whose creative ideas have made this yearbook very special.

We are the people of B-G; similar only in our diversity. Each individual unique in character; everyone special in his own way. We recognize the differences among people; they serve to benefit us all. We see. We hear. We learn. We grow. We discover more about ourselves and the world in which we live. We search for the goodness of things; sometimes the search is long. We want to help others, but at times we are helpless. We grow together; we grow apart. We're just starting out in life. We've come so far; and have so far yet to go. We live to discover life.
